3 STUDENTS DIE IN 'FIRE BUG' BLAZE

Fight Looms Here on Right-to-Work Law

2 Groups Get Set to Battle Council Action

Democratic Club, Contractor Group Veto to Oppose

Proposed "Right to Work" legislation which will be up for final consideration at the city council meeting next Wednesday evening, is expected to run into stiff audience opposition, following action this week by members of two groups.

Taking definite stands against the proposed measure which was introduced at the city council meeting Oct. 10 by a 6 to 1 vote, were the Palm Springs Area Democratic Club and the newly organized Coachella Valley Contractor's Association.

The Democratic Club action had been expected following an appeal to the club members to attempt to block such legislation, made by Richard Richards, candidate for U.S. Senator, in a campaign speech here last week.

THIS APPEAL was echoed at the club's meeting at the Legion hall last night by Robert M. Erwin, Democratic candidate for State Senator.

Terminating the proposed ordinance a "right to work" action, he said that "it is not a right to work; it is a reactionary rear guard maneuver to wreck organized labor, to wreck collective bargaining and to wreck the economic life of the community."

Erwin charged that this local action is a "slick device" to bypass both Democratic and Republican opposition in Sacramento. "Friends of labor in the Legislature and Governor Knight have stated flatly that attempted 'right to work' legislation will never become California law," he added.

FRANK CULLY, noted author, echoed Erwin's call for action, and was named spokesman for the club at the council meeting. Club officers, led by President Herb Hass, and members also are expected to attend the council meeting.

The Coachella Valley Contractors Association, acting through its attorney, Leonard Bock, has sent a letter to city council expressing five points of protest to the measure.

Bock said that the ordinance is "causing considerable managerial unrest," and listed the following five reasons why the ordinance should not be enacted:

1. "THE PROBLEM goes much deeper than the culinary workers against whom this ordinance is directed.
2. "The ordinance will put in jeopardy all agreements presently existing between the various unions, contractors, sub-contractors and management.
3. "The ordinance will seriously rupture the good will and harmony existing between the Coachella Valley Contractor's Association and labor.
4. "The ordinance has not adequately provided for or taken into consideration the welfare or needs of union employees.
5. "The ordinance is anti-union in nature."

IN CONCLUSION, Bock said that the association "urges the city council to re-examine this ordinance and the issues involved and to either refrain from finally adopting the same or to put it in such form as it will adequately protect the interest of everyone concerned."

The association has scheduled a meeting for next Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the Los Compadres Club house, at which time the ordinance will be further discussed, according to E. A. Ryan, president.

Palm Springs is the first municipality to attempt to pass "right to work" legislation on a local level.

31 Pacific Plane Crash Survivors Arrive in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO — Nineteen men, nine women and three children who left Honolulu by air three days ago arrived here today aboard a Coast Guard cutter that rescued them after their plane crash-landed in the Pacific.

The Coast Guard weather ship Pontchartrain steamed through the Golden Gate at 8:18 a.m., PST, in bright sunshine to receive a gala welcome at Pier Eight of San Francisco's embarcadero.

THE 24 PASSENGERS and seven crewmen of the Pan American World Airways plane crowded against the rail of the Pontchartrain and waved and smiled.

At the pier a huge sign proclaimed a "well done" to the crew of the Pontchartrain, which rescued all aboard the ditched plane within six minutes.

MOST OF THE survivors were clad in new clothing brought to them by Pan American officials aboard the cutter Gresham which intercepted the Pontchartrain 12 miles off the gate.

All aboard the plane lost their belongings in the ditching.

Teenage Hunt for Excitement Blamed for Gun and Knife Fight

CHICAGO — Authorities today blamed foolhardiness and a search "for excitement" as the motivating forces behind a teenage gun and knife battle that killed one youth and injured two others.

Meanwhile, State's Attorney John G. Gurnea said he would file charges of murder, manslaughter and conspiracy against about 14 youths involved in the street brawl death of Warren White, 18.

"THIS WAS A gang affair and the responsibility for it is a gang one," Gurnea said. "We're going to prosecute all identified in the gang assault."

Frederick R. Kruse, 18, an Air Force enlisted man on leave, confessed slaying White by shooting him with a .22-caliber revolver. Wounded were Edward Melant, Jr., shot in the chest and arm, and Richard Bukovic, 18, slashed by a knife across the face.

Conflicting stories of the outbreak were heard by police, but the attitude of the teen-agers was summed by Edward Stach, 17, of police.

"They tell you 'you're going out

Boyd Proclaims Saturday as Bike Safety Day

Mayor Florian G. Boyd today proclaimed Saturday as the first annual Bike Safety Day, under the sponsorship of the Palm Springs Optimist Club, and urged all parents to cooperate by having their children bring their bikes to inspection points for safety checks.

Police department officers will inspect the bicycles, and those passing the safety tests will be marked with red reflector tape supplied by the Optimist Club.

In his official proclamation, Mayor Boyd said that this observance will "emphasize to school children the importance of safety and adherence to safety rules when riding bicycles on our city streets."

Bob Davis is chairman of the Optimist Club's Bicycle Safety committee.

14 to Police Traffic at Grid Game Tonight

Chief of Police August G. Kettmann said today that he will supply 14 officers to work traffic control at the Palm Springs vs. Coachella football game at the local high school tonight.

One of the largest crowds ever is expected at the game tonight, and Kettmann said that with the current construction at the high school, the handling of traffic during the games has become a major problem.

Cerritos Street, next to the high school plant, will be closed to all traffic and all parking will either be in front of the school on Ramon or in the parking lot at the Polo Grounds.

Kettmann called for the help of all local residents in using the available parking at the Polo Grounds, thereby relieving the traffic situation on Ramon Road. The school district and the city have joined together to light both city and school property between the parking lot and the football field.

The special traffic team will be made up of both regular officers and reserve police, and flare and signs will be used.

Crucial Jordan Election Sunday

LONDON — The little Arab kingdom of Jordan elects a 40-man House of Representatives Sunday in general elections that could mean the end of a kingship created by Britain eight years ago.

Britain was looking towards the elections with obvious nervousness because Jordan is Britain's last foothold in the Arab world and an end of the Arab world and mean a break in Jordan's ties with the West.

Observers in London believe the elections might result in the opposition coming to power on a wave of riots.

However, dispatches from Amman say the situation is quiet and there is no resemblance between the present situation and the fatal riots of last December and January.

But observers felt that postponement of the elections might cause bigger riots and a suspension of Parliament and with it still bigger disorders that could drive Jordan into the Egyptian camp and away from its links with Iraq and the West.

Poland Restores Purged Officials To Party Power

WARSAW, Poland — Poland's Communist regime today restored disgraced "Titoist" Wladyslaw Gomulka and two of his once-imprisoned colleagues to power. It was the first major political realignment since the Poznan riots.

The Central Committee of the Polish United Workers Communist Party elected four new members at its long-awaited plenary session. The 58-year-old Gomulka was one of them.

THE OTHER THREE were political allies of Gomulka's up to the time of his purge during the 1948 Titoist upheaval, and two of them went to prison with him then.

Gomulka's restoration to the Communist leadership has long been expected. It was believed now he would be further promoted to the Politburo—the inner ruling Communist circle—of the Central Committee and possibly to the cabinet.

ELECTED WITH him to the central committee itself were: Marian Spychalski, purged as vice minister of defense and arrested. He was released after Josef Stalin's death and now is a hospital official here.

Aaron Kliszaki, purged as vice minister of justice at the same time as Gomulka and arrested. He recently was restored to his post. Ignacy Loga Sowinski, a political ally of Gomulka's who survived the Titoist purge. He is a trade union official.

Some other properties were included in the deal. Tiertin and Spiegelman have operated the Rossmore for the past four years. It is understood that Spiegelman will remain in the village.

Davis, who represented both parties in the transaction, said that this deal was the seventh hotel transaction he has handled in Palm Springs in the past four years. Other sale or exchange included the Tangelo, El Roseno, which was sold twice, Casa Blanca, Twin Villas, La Veranda, and The Sands.

Casey is expected to announce his plans for the Rossmore within the next week.

Antibiotics Promise Housewives Food That Will Keep for Weeks

WASHINGTON — Science is coming up with another big break for American housewives — food that will keep for weeks without spoiling.

Experts reported today they now have evidence that poultry, fish, ham, beef, sausage, lobster and many other perishable foods can be kept fresh for long periods with antibiotics. The drugs kill bacteria which cause most food spoilage.

The scientists said use of the drugs will mean far less waste—one out of every four pounds of food now goes into the garbage can. It also may mean fewer stomach upsets and a significant increase in the world's food supplies.

The optimistic reports were made at the final session of the Food and Drug Administration's fourth annual symposium on anti-biotics. Several hundred experts from the United States and nine other countries have taken part.

WIFE CHARGES MARINES MADE HERO'S LIFE A 'HELL ON EARTH'

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. — The wife of a Marine Congressional Medal of Honor winner convicted of attacking his commanding officer said the Corps made her husband's life "a hell on earth" after he received the nation's highest military citation.

The Marine, Alfred Lee McLaughlin, 28, of Leeds, Ala., Thursday began serving a three-month sentence following his court martial.

Mrs. McLaughlin charged that the Marines exploited her husband after President Eisenhower awarded him the Congressional Medal of Honor in 1953 for killing 150 enemy soldiers in Korea. She also charged that other Marines ridiculed him because he had won the medal.

McLaughlin, who was a technical sergeant before the court martial, was found guilty of an armed attack on his commanding officer, Maj. Henry Checklou, stripped of his rank, fined $120 and sentenced to serve three months.

The conviction, Mrs. McLaughlin charged, "just wasn't fair after all Mac has given to the Corps and his country."

Her husband, she said, "never had a peaceful moment after President Eisenhower gave him the medal."

"Mac cried and told me 'I'm not a man any more,' he said. 'I can't do anything about the things they say to me. They outrank me and they've got me where they want me!'"

Girls Won't Leave Bus Until Radio Leaves Presley

A group of Palm Springs junior high school girls refused to leave a school bus yesterday afternoon when the bus radio began playing an Elvis Presley recording and kept the girls "hypnotized" by the rock 'n' roll music.

The incident occurred just after school yesterday, when a new bus, equipped with a radio, picked up students at Nellie Coffman Junior High School to take them to their home in Desert Hot Springs.

The bus, newest on the line, is being used for the first time as an experiment by the school district to find whether a radio will aid in keeping order on long bus runs.

When driver John Sampsal was about to make his last stop on the run, the teen-age singing sensation came on the air with "Any Way You Want Me," and the girls in the bus yelled to Sampsal to turn up the volume.

When the bus reached the end of the line, the girls remained in their seats to hear the end of the song, and refused to get off until the driver turned off the radio.

Said one of the girls, "I guess we were hypnotized — we sort of like him."

Rossmore Hotel Changes Hands In $500,000 Swap

Exchange of the well known Rossmore Hotel for a Los Angeles business building was completed today by Palm Springs realtor John Davis, who announced that the transaction was in excess of $500,000.

Jack W. Casey, Los Angeles business man, exchanged a two-story commercial building in that city, with Theodore J. Tiertin and Stanley T. Spiegelman for the 50-unit Rossmore hotel.

Some other properties were included in the deal. Tiertin and Spiegelman have operated the Rossmore for the past four years. It is understood that Spiegelman will remain in the village.

Davis, who represented both parties in the transaction, said that this deal was the seventh hotel transaction he has handled in Palm Springs in the past four years. Other sale or exchange included the Tangelo, El Roseno, which was sold twice, Casa Blanca, Twin Villas, La Veranda, and The Sands.

Casey is expected to announce his plans for the Rossmore within the next week.

Japan, Soviet Sign to End 11-Year War

Moscow Conference Leaves Formal Treaty to Future

MOSCOW — Japan and the Soviet Union signed a joint declaration today, ending an 11-year state of war between the two nations. A formal peace treaty was left to future negotiations.

Two documents were signed in the Kremlin by Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama for Japan and Premier Nikolai Bulganin for the Soviet Union.

ONE DOCUMENT was a joint declaration calling for normalization of relations between Tokyo and Moscow.

Under this agreement, the state of war was ended, both countries will exchange ambassadors, the Soviets will release some 1,000 Japanese prisoners still in Russian hands, the Soviet Union will support Japan's bid for entry into the United Nations and a provisional agreement concluded last summer will be implemented.

THE SECOND DOCUMENT was a protocol on trade.

The question of the return of certain Kurile Island territory claimed by Japan was deferred to a later date.

The Soviet Union agreed to return to Japan the two islands of Habomai and Shikotan, but only after the conclusion of a formal peace treaty. It was on this key issue that the talks almost had collapsed.

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko who led the Soviet walk-out at the San Francisco Peace Conference in 1951 was one of the principal draftsmen of the present agreement. He walked out then when he refused to sign the treaty.

Louisville Bids For Ball Team

WASHINGTON — A representative of Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky appeared at the Washington Senators' board of directors' meeting today and presented an offer from Louisville for the franchise.

Besides Louisville, the board has had offers to transfer the Washington franchise to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Nude Girl Hitch-hiker Brings Veteran Truck Driver to Fast Halt

RHEIMS, France — Truck driver Marius Huppysuit, accustomed to seeing girl hitch-hikers show a bare knee to entice motorists to stop, screeched his big trailer-truck to a halt Thursday night when he saw a pretty girl entirely in the nude standing at the edge of the road.

He drove the 23-year-old girl to the police station, where she explained that her boyfriend became angry on a date, forced her to undress and then told her to walk home.

Idaho U. Tragedy Laid To Arsonist

Victims Trapped On Fourth Floor Of Dormitory

MOSCOW, Idaho, — Three University of Idaho students were killed today in a dormitory fire which investigators said apparently was the work of an arsonist.

The university identified the victims as John R. Knudson, 18, Idaho Falls, freshman in pre-veterinary medicine; William Clair Shulberg, 18, Terreton, freshman in business, and Paul F. Johnson, 18, Davenport, Wash., sophomore in history.

They were suffocated and burned when the flames, which started in a second-floor lounge of Galt Hall, swept up the stairways and trapped them on the fourth floor.

"THE FLASH NATURE of the fire indicates arson," Moscow Fire Chief Carl Smith said. "The way the fire shot up with such terrific heat indicates it must have had a petroleum base. Some form of petroleum, perhaps gasoline, apparently had been spread in the lounge before the fire started."

It was the fourth dormitory blaze within a week on the campus. Fire Chief Carl Smith said the previous fires, which caused about $5,000 damage, had been set.

"This one stacks up with the rest of them," Smith said.

THE FIRE BROKE out about 2:15 a.m. in the downstairs lounge of Galt Hall, a new four-story men's dormitory. The concrete and brick structure had been termed fireproof.

Many of the dormitory residents fled outdoors into near-freezing weather. The victims were trapped on the upper floor.

Four other students narrowly escaped death. Two of them climbed down a fireproof ladder. Two others made their way up a rope to the roof from where they were able to jump to the roof of neighboring Unham Hall.

More than 1,000 students aided firemen in battling the blaze. They brought it under control in about 45 minutes.

THE THREE OTHER fires occurred last weekend during homecoming festivities. The first was discovered early Friday at Willis Sweet Hall. It damaged two dormitories, a window casing and drapes.

The same damage was caused by a fire early Saturday at Chrisman Hall. The third was discovered in Chrisman Hall Sunday, but there was no damage.

Galt Hall was the newest men's dormitory on the campus. The $500,000 ultramodern structure was opened only a year ago. It housed 130 students.

Prosecutor Lloyd Martinson said he was conducting an "all-out investigation" of the fire.

State Hunters To Blast Loose For Duck Season

SACRAMENTO — Thousands of shotguns will cut loose just before 6 a.m. Saturday as California's 100,000 duck hunters begin an 80-day continuous season that promises to be the best in years.

Shooting time is from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. The possession limit again is 10 birds, at least three of which must be sprig or widgeon. The limit on geese is six, with no more than three of the Canadian variety.

Counts taken by state and federal agencies indicate there are as many as 59 per cent more ducks in the central valleys this year than in 1955.

Some estimates place the number at nearly four million birds.

Sorry, Wrong Party for Three Good Reasons

BEVERLY HILLS — A man, who was notified that a warrant was to be issued for his arrest because he hadn't paid a traffic fine, wrote the city attorney:

"This couldn't have been my car for three reasons. (1.) I was working at the time. (2.) My wife is pregnant and doesn't drive. (3.) My car . . . was in a junkyard and was cut up into small pieces."

4 Killed; 28 Hurt In Gas Blasts in 3 Midwest Towns

By UNITED PRESS
HERRIN, Ill. (U.P.)—The death toll climbed to seven persons early today in a series of gas tank explosions and fire which rocked a residential section Thursday night, destroying five homes.

At least four persons were killed and about 28 others injured in gas explosions which rocked three towns in three Midwest states Thursday night.

The blasts occurred at Herrin, Ill.; Kenosha, Wis., and Bettendorf, Iowa.

Worst explosion was at Herrin, where four persons were killed and nine others critically injured in a series of propane gas tank explosions and fire which swept a residential neighborhood. Five homes and a warehouse were destroyed.

Authorities said the heavy gas drifted over the area from a leaky valve of a gas truck which was unloading propane gas at the warehouse where the gas was stored.

Fourteen persons were burned at Kenosha when a 150-foot long one-story motor testing building of the American Motor Co. exploded. Five persons were injured when a frame and stone home in a residential section of Bettendorf blew up.

Ike in California, is Fighting Mad Over H-Bomb Test Campaign Issue

PORTLAND, Ore. (U.P.)—President Eisenhower took his campaign today into the strategic state of California where he was expected to make another gloves-off assault on Adlai E. Stevenson's call for a ban on hydrogen-bomb tests.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty made clear that the President was fighting mad over the hydrogen test controversy and "will continue to lay the facts of the campaign on the line."

Mr. Eisenhower will speak tonight at a Republican rally in the Hollywood Bowl. His speech will be carried over a California, Nevada and Arizona TV network of the Columbia Broadcasting System at 12:30 a.m. EDT Saturday.

The President bore down on the H-bomb, draft and "giveaway" issues in attacks on Stevenson in Portland Thursday at two separate GOP rallies in Civic Auditorium.

He said that "the road to surrender is paved with good intentions" such as Stevenson's "wishful thinking" proposals for halting hydrogen bomb tests and ending the draft.

WITH STEVENSON IN KENTUCKY. — Adlai E. Stevenson made a new effort today to tie Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., firmly to President Eisenhower.

He also charged that Republicans in Congress value Mr. Eisenhower as a candidate, but ignore him as a leader.

He said in a speech prepared for delivery at Lexington that return of the Republicans to national and congressional control would restore McCarthy to chairmanship of the Government Operations Committee of the Senate.

McCarthy had occupied that post when he conducted his controversial hearings on Communist infiltration into the government.

The two-stop Kentucky swing was one of the more successful days of the Democratic presidential nominee's campaign.

He was also received enthusiastically in Ohio, ending up at Youngstown where he was welcomed by one of the largest night turnouts since the nominating convention.

ENROUTE WITH NIXON. — A tired Vice President Richard M. Nixon neared the end today of his second transcontinental campaign trip with the hope of two days rest before starting his third and final pre-election swing.

Nixon flies from New York to Wilmington, Del., for a speech before returning to Washington to rest briefly for an appearance in Baltimore tonight.

On Monday, the vice president sets out on his last coast-to-coast tour by train, plane and automobile which will not end until election day, Nov. 6.

Nixon cast aside his role as campaigner Thursday night to speak at the annual Alfred Smith Memorial Dinner at the guilded Waldorf-Astoria Ballroom in New York in an appearance billed as non-political.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U.P.)—Anti-gambler Estes Kefauver warned the American people from this gambling center today that they can't afford to take chances on "this mad and suicidal H-bomb race."

The lanky Tennessee senator accused President Eisenhower and other top Republicans of talking "monstrous nonsense" in their opposition to ending the tests of hydrogen bombs.

"It is Eisenhower, Dulles and Nixon who would refuse us the right to take a constructive step in halting the world's rush toward death," he said in remarks prepared for delivery here.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate, who takes a dim view of gambling, carefully ducked the crap games and black jack parlors here.

He stayed overnight at the Royal Nevada Hotel, one of the few places which doesn't feature the clackety-clack of "one-armed bandits."

Kefauver was catapulted to national fame for his 1951 Senate crime investigation.

Among the conclusions reached by the Senate investigators was that "both morally and financially, legalized gambling in Nevada is a failure."

THE PURPLE KNIGHT of Salton Sink is Harry Oliver in his latest edition of the Desert Rat Scrap Book which hit the news stand today. Harry, in his book, claims to be the reincarnation of Don Quixote.

Richards Blames Dulles for Suez

LOS ANGELES (U.P.)—State Sen. Richard Richards, Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate, today blamed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for creating a situation which permitted Egyptian Premier Nasser to take over the Suez Canal.

Describing Dulles as a "do-it-yourself satellite, clumsily put together and hopelessly out of control," Richards termed U.S. foreign policy for the past four years "inconsistent, immature, unexplained and sometimes nonexistent."

Cuban Youths 'Conquer' British Island Off Cuba

HAVANA (U.P.)—The British Embassy labeled today as "irresponsible" two bands of Cuban youths who carried out the bloodless "invasions" of Britain's tiny Key Sal Island 25 miles off Cuba.

The invaders met with no resistance from the two Britons found on the 50-square mile island as they lowered the Union Jack and ran up the flag of Cuba Thursday.

The Cuban government admitted it was informed of the incident but disclaimed any connection with it. A statement issued by Foreign Minister Andres Domingo Morales Del Castillo said the youths "acted on their own initiative."

Two yachts carried the "invaders" to the island which the British have leased for 90 years at $1,000 per year to Clarence B. Moody, a Miami, Fla., contractor.

Harry Oliver Dreams Self Into Role Of Don Quixote on Canless Desert

By DON KLOTZBUCHER
The Knight of the Desert, attired in rusty armor made of discarded beer cans he collected from the roadsides, is at it again.

He's Harry Oliver, naturally, and in his new Desert Rat Scrap Book which hit the newsstands today he kicks around the idea (very logically—his logic) that he is the reincarnation of "Don Quixote," the blundering old scallawag of the 1600's.

He's the Purple Knight of Salton Sink on the cover of his latest edition, and is the "gallant defender of our roadsides, wildflowers, burros, doves, pack rats, tortoises, roadrunners, lost mines, ghost towns, shaggy dogs, stray cats, buzzards, and of the desert's little creatures including damselfly in distress."

BUT MOST OF ALL, he's the reincarnation of Cervantes' "Don Quixote."

Harry's discovery did not come about through hypnotism, it . . . but that's his own story, as follows: "It started when I could not find my glasses and dug into an old Spanish leather trunk I found in San Juan Capistrano, and got out some old square glasses and an old ear-trumpet.

"I just put the trumpet on the shelf over the bed—read Cervantes' book for hours and hours with those old square glasses on my nose—and soon the pictures were of me as Don and voices came from the trumpet carrying me back to the 1600's.

"I KNEW I WAS in the province of La Mancha of South Spain; it looked like our desert of today—only there were no beer cans. NO BEER CANS! I woke up smiling.

Presley, 2 Gas Attendants Hailed To Court After Indecisive Brawl

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—Elvis Presley today claimed a victory in his fight with two service station attendants, but one of his opponents said the rock 'n' roll singer was just telling another of his "houn' dog" lies.

Presley and the two attendants, Ed Hopper, 42, and Aubrey Brown, 21, were ordered to appear in city court today to answer assault and battery and disorderly conduct charges which grew out of the brief scuffle.

Reports of exactly what happened at the filling station were conflicting.

Presley, who at first refused comment and was "out in the back yard feeding the mule" when reporters called, later held a news conference and accused Hopper of pulling a knife on him.

Southern California Automobile Influx on Way to New Record

Automobile influx into Southern California is on its way to another record-breaking year—even though it didn't look like it at the mid-year point—the Automobile Club of Southern California reported today.

The Club said that 731,994 out-of-State cars, carrying 1,970,190 passengers, entered California at Southland points during the first nine months of this year, a two percent increase over 1955's three-quarter auto total. Oddly enough, at the six-month mark Southland auto influx was four per cent lower than at the same time in 1955.

A Statewide record is also in the making, the Club said, reporting that 1,465,863 autos, with 3,193,079 passengers entered the Golden State during the first nine months of 1956 compared to 1,387,896 cars, with 3,772,782 passengers, last year.

Airport Design At International Given Approval

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The fundamental design for a new International Airport terminal which would accommodate 13 million persons a year has been approved by the Board of Airport Commissioners.

Commission President Ralph P. Cousins said that adoption of the basic design — a huge rectangle surrounded by six independent airline buildings—permits the preparation of blueprints and cost estimates.

The commission launched its study of the design of the new terminal after passage of a $59 million airport bond issue in June. Cousins said the space inside the rectangle formed by the terminal would be used for parking 5,000 cars, roadways and a central administration and concession building.

Movie Planned At Our Savior's

Scheduled for showing Friday at 7:30 p.m. by Our Savior's Lutheran Church is the new feature-length movie, "The Unfinished Task," latest film production of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Hollywood-produced, the new 3 minute film portrays the dramatic conflict between a young engineering graduate who wants to study for the Christian ministry, and his engineering father who violently objects. The film has been hailed as one of the most ambitious movie productions ever undertaken by a church body.

The film will be shown in connection with the congregation's "Family Night," in the auxiliary room of the Legion Hall, 400 North Belardo. The public is invited.

There are at least 51 cities in the world with a population of one million or more.

Italian Finds Himself a Flop As A Hermit As Well As a Racer

BERGAMO, Italy (AP)—Many years ago Gino Zambelli of the neighboring village of Calozio Corte wanted to become a bicycle racer, but his career lasted barely two hours.

He equipped himself with a racing bike and entered the "tour of Italy," in which champions pedal the length and breadth of the Italian peninsula for fun and glory. Zambelli crashed into the plate glass window of a store after only two hours in the race. The shame was too much, and Zambelli took to the woods and became a hermit.

But Zambelli had failed again. A group of tourists found him in the mountain cave where he had lived for years alone with his dogs living on what he could find in the woods.

Zambelli moved farther back into the mountains today in search of his lost solitude.

KEEP NELSON DILWORTH

In addition to his impeccable character and high principles, there are some very good reasons why Riverside County should keep Nelson Dilworth as its representative in the State Senate. Most important is his unusual seniority and membership on the most important committees—such as Finance, Education and Veteran Affairs. Anyone with a knowledge of the workings of the legislative branch of government knows the advantage of seniority. It helps a lot in getting things done for one's district, too.

Nelson Dilworth has been a resident of this county since boyhood. He spent his childhood at Coachella and has lived in Hemet since 1915. He knows the county as well as any resident and is familiar with the problems of all sections. Before going to the Senate, he served six years in the Assembly.

In 1956 the State Legislature has approved $35,714,000 in expenditures in Riverside county, of which over $14 million is for schools. Sen. Dilworth is constantly working for the best interests of his district in Sacramento and is one of the most respected senators in state. He is the author of almost 200 measures which the Senate has adopted relative to National Defense, Education, Conservation, Public Health, Veterans Assistance, Agriculture and Child Welfare. The Cancer Research Institute at the University of California was set up by Sen. Dilworth's bill, and its notable success in uncovering new scientific knowledge of cancer is known throughout the state and nation.

Sponsored School Bonds

Proposition No. 2 on the Nov. 6 ballot, which authorizes the issuance of $100,000,000 in State bonds for loans and grants to local school districts for construction and equipment, was sponsored by Sen. Dilworth. He strongly advocates its passage because so many more classrooms are badly needed. He points out also that a considerable portion of this money will be repaid to the state. The measure is receiving strong support throughout California.

Nelson Dilworth is sincere, honest and dependable. He is a grass-roots type of individual in whom it is easy to place confidence. He doesn't look, talk or act like a politician—because he just isn't. He has been retained year after year by the voters of Riverside County because he has served his district and the state so well.

We should keep Senator Nelson Dilworth.

WE ALL HAVE PROBLEMS
(From the Wall, S.D., Courant)

"True, the farmers have problems, but so don't we all. The nearer the government comes to a guarantee of a 'living wage' to the farmer (than to the rest of us) the nearer we come to socialism, and the farther we pull away from our heritage of individualism and self initiative and improvement."

MIKE CONNOLLY:

Telefilms Await Reaction

Bill Holden called a halt on plans to produce telefilms under his Toluca Productions banner until he sees what effect TV showings of top movies from the major studio backlogs will have on the telefilm distributor market. Bill's argument is: "Who wants to see a quickie especially made for TV on one channel when they can see 'Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo' on another?"

Bud Moss, a Beverly Hills restaurant owner, signed a premarital agreement with Ruth Roman waiving his community property rights. Gloria Noble and Donald O'Connor stayed on in Santa Barbara after the wedding for a "pre-honeymoon."

They'll take the "main course" in Honolulu while Donald's home on Whitley Heights, high over Hollywood, gets a revamp.

Once a friend of the late Fanny Brice was talking over another actress who was "cheapering" herself by endorsing cigarettes. "What's she getting for it?" asked Fanny. Came the answer: $5,000. Snapped Fanny, "For $5,000 I'd endorse a funeral parlor."

I HEAR IT was a shiner that prompted Sonny Tufts to stay indoors for days on end. What a book Don Murray, Marilyn Monroe's co-star in "Bus Stop," could write: sailor in the original "Rose Tattoo" on Broadway to a fat M-G-M contract to the U.S. Army to a conscientious objectors' camp in Germany to a Trappist monastery to a featured role in the American National Theatre's production of "The Skin of Our Teeth" with Helen Hayes and Mary Martin back to Hollywood for his starring role in "Bus Stop" to marriage with pretty Hope Lange, the girl he met while making that movie—all in the space of four short years—WOW! . . . Burr Tillstrom's Presidential campaign song for Ollie (of Kukla, Fran & etc.) is "Get on the Dragon Wagon."

A GAS STATION in Yuma, Ariz., advertises "Last Chance for Gas at Arizona Prices" and does a big business too. The catch is that when you cross the border into California the gas is cheaper! . . . Fragile ballerina Maria Tallchief is one of the world's best poker players. . . . Maurice Stappleton, the very dramatic Broadway actress, is mad for movie mags and reads 'em by the gross. . . . Lt. Col. Gene Raymond, Jeanette MacDonald's mate, is flying more and more jets these days. . . . His agent gave Dennis Hopper, a real find in "Giant," gold cufflinks in the shape of Texas with "Giant" engraved on them. . . . Mrs. Spencer Tracy's committee sold 250 chances at $100 apiece (and that ain't hay—that's $25,000) on a $9,900 Lincoln Continental for her John Tracy Clinic benefit at Romanoff's. Clinic for deaf children is named after her son, who is deaf. . . . Buddy Adler of 20th-Fox drew the name of the winner: oilman Bob Day, whose garage is already so full of Rolls-Royces, Bentleys and Cadillacs he can't drive the Continental in to it. . . . The Carleton Alsops bought a $100 ticket for Georgetown, their French poodle but she didn't win a thing, poor thing. . . . Also looked around Romanoff's Crown Room and sighed. "Gee, everyone's here from every walk of life—including Azusa!"

TV TOPICS — Frank Sinatra must believe in that old wheeze, "There's always time to do anything you WANT to do," because he's all set to wedge a telefilm series, "International House," in his tight, tight schedule of movies, TV guest spots, nightclub dates, personal appearance tours, benefits, recording sessions and all those other things Frankie takes time to do. . . . TV turns the tables on the movie industry with its current $100,000 newspaper and TV ballyhoo barrage aimed at keeping audiences home Friday nights to watch telecasting of those old M-G-M movies (including the aforementioned "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo").

BOB HOPE who thrives on the scurry and flurry, beamed to a buddy about the hustle involved in trying to get 10 things done at once in order to keep up with his television shows, interviews, movies, etc. (see Sinatra item above). Bob's pal shot him a baleful glare and said: "I told you years ago you should have learned a trade!" . . . Jack Benny liked the financial results of his Carnegie Hall concert so much he plans to fiddle up additional monies for charities with a whole string of concerts cross-country. . . . Ish Kabibble's billing at the Fremont Hotel in Las Vegas is: "Ish Kabibble and His Band, Featuring the Shy Guys." It's only a small combo so I asked Ish about the ad. Explained Ish: "Well, y'see, it's like this—I'm shy about 16 guys."

Doodles

By ROGER PRICE

"OCTOPUS JUMPING ROPE" This Doodle reminds me of the time Dr. Schweine tried to cross an Octopus with a Turkey in order to develop a bird with plenty of drumsticks. He didn't though because the Aquarium had some silly rule against dropping live Turkeys into the tanks so he got discouraged and gave up. That seems to be Dr. Schweine's life story. Whenever he gets a terrific idea (like this one) he turns into all sorts of opposition. One of these days he's going to be recognized for the genius that he is and the world will beat a path to his door. If it happens, I hope he's home and not out fooling around with one of his dopey experiments.

The A. B. C. of politics Most Experts will agree, R Q'd upon the principle OF X P D N C

Now that is not my own, I wish that it were. But Mr. S. Omar Barker creased a typewriter for that one and with the election just around the corner, thought that it was X C D N L E timely.

So am listing it here with due credit and extreme gratitude.

THAT FACE LIFT that Ruby and Connie gave the Dunes is really something. Certainly has changed the appearance of Palm Canyon Drive and is all for the good.

Taking out those big windows, however, presents a problem to Pat Stampuch who looks after the daytime imbibers. He cannot get that perfect view of what is parading up or down the Drive now. Just a sneak glimpse through those two slits of windows left to him.

Can remember that place as it used to be in the years long ago when I first came here. Harry Mutascio had it then.

And, despite all of the improvements, there is a reminder of the old days at The Dunes.

On the sidewalk before the ornate new entrance is still chiseled the name:

"Harry's Place."

Progress, it seems, cannot always efface the past.

SANDY COOPER, downtown agent of the FSP (Friendly Southern Pacific) handed me a book the other day entitled "Southern Pacific, the story of a fighting railroad." Highly entertaining and of interest to all California historians. Haven't mentioned the FSP here lately but I guess they are doing all right.

Went to Los Angeles the other day and decided to ride the Sunset since I was privileged sometime ago to ride it on its inaugural or shake-down trip. Being on an expense account and a conscientious cool, I took a coach ticket. And that train was so crowded that the only place I found a seat was in the grill car.

Which was expensive because I couldn't put that on the expense account. All of the entertainment was for one person. Me.

But, anyway, to me rails are the best way to travel.

IN LESS THAN three weeks we'll be in the midst of the 13th edition of Western Week — and, according to all indications, it will be a huge success.

When Los Compadres Club, which sponsored the original Western Week and has handled it each year since, decided that it was too great a burden to carry on alone, Villagers came to the rescue with a bang.

Everybody helped but I believe the Hotel Association with Adele Colgan at the helm, turned in the biggest job. It was a pleasure to look at all of those checks and currency she had collected from her group to see that the Palm Springs Season would get off to a rousing start.

Of course, that word "Season" doesn't mean what it used to. Palm Springs is now an all-year-around town.

With the election campaign nearing a climax, this observation by Armand Cirilli in the Iron County (Wis.) Miner, makes sense.

"A puzzling thing is why we never meet up with any of those people listed as having 'no opinion' in those pre-election polls."

INEZ ROBB:

Rebels at Slither Skirts

There is a lot of loose talk these days—and has been ever since I can remember—that women only marry men in order to reform them or reshape them nearer some impossible heart's desire.

Nonsense! The shoe of reformation is on the other clodhopper. Man, especially the male couturier, has been doing his best since World War II to reassemble the female form divine.

First, they attacked the waistline, shifting it north, then south and finally pinching us in until we were blue in the face and blyding on each side of the equator.

NEXT, THEY concentrated on the bosom. First it was posh 'em up, then posh 'em down, then flatten 'em out a la line and now inflame ala M-line (and that is not M for Maginot).

Then they decreed no hips, asking for miracles yet. And so one would have thought that the male designer had gone about as far as he could go in remodeling legs. But I have news for you—

Ordinarily I have to be hog-tied and carried, kicking and screaming, into anything even faintly resembling a fashion show. Until recently I felt this malaise stemmed from the humiliating fact that I have about as much chance to make the list of the Ten Best Dressed as Tug Boat Annie.

However, I went willingly to a fashion critic also decorated two Museum of Art, primarily to see my dear friend and severe critic, Sally Victor, receive fashion's "Winnie." This is the annual American Fashion Critic's award and comparable to Hollywood's "Oscar."

THIS HAS BEEN a big year for Sally, hatter extraordinary to the Mesdames Eisenhower, Truman and Eleanor Roosevelt and celebrities unlimited. She is the first hat designer ever to receive the "Winnie." In addition, the wholesale millinery industry recently gave her its first Millinery Research Award, in grateful belief that if anyone can coax women to wear hats again, it's Sally.

But enough of this digression.

What I started out to say is that I discovered at the Met the real reason I eschew fashion shows. It isn't because they humiliate me; it's because I ain't willing to suffer. Anyone who wants to be a chic chick today has to embrace the mizzieries.

As a result, I want to alert the American man no less than the American woman that another conspiracy is in the making against the weaker sex. (And the reason we are weak is that fashion takes such a toll of us.)

NOW IT IS obvious that the Messrs. Estevez and Galanos are trying to do away with legs. Skirts, long and short, designed by these young men are so tight that even the plumbing-pipe models who wore them looked like mummies, Egyptian style. The girls couldn't walk; they couldn't even mince. Just slither. Or shuffle, like Little Ah Sid, the Chinese kid.

Well, enough is enough! Today, bound legs; tomorrow, bound feet. The boys may fence in the other girls, but not me! Not while I can still say "Hoover apron," if you will pardon the expression in an election year.

BILL RASHALL

Unedited

(Unedited, again today, is being written by Don Klotzbuecher, city editor of The Desert Sun, substituting for Bill Rashall, who was out of town several days this week due to a death in his family.)

By DON KLOTZBUECHER I think Henry Greeley should present a petition to city council asking that Bermuda shorts be outlawed in this community.

It's a natural aftermath after his refusal to let senior boys wear them to school.

Up until now, I haven't heard whether or not the student body has approved the wearing of the shorts, but knowing teen-agers—I think they will. And their recommendation will then go to the board of education.

I personally have nothing against Mr. Greeley, who is principal of the Palm Springs High School. He's very capable, on school matters.

THE WEARING OF Bermuda shorts by the senior boys would not have caused any stir among students whatsoever—had it not been for the disturbance caused by the high school administrator. If nothing had been said, or if definite regulations had been established, similar to those requested by the seniors, no hulla-balloo would have resulted. The seniors proposed the wearing of Bermuda shorts, plus knee length socks—no shorts or ankle socks. But Greeley said "NO."

But who knows, maybe he's right. After all, he's dealt in education of youngsters for many years. I've only had contact with teen-agers for 20 years—10 years as one, and 10 years covering their activities for newspapers.

And I've learned during that time that what you try to stop, you encourage. And what you try to encourage, you stop.

This lesson in psychology is not new, nor is the wearing of Bermuda shorts.

After all, Mr. Greeley, have you been down town lately and watched our invited visitors, or during the summer when all of us dress in a similar manner, and I'm sure it has not corrupted our morals.

I compliment Dr. Wallace Mueller for treating this as strictly a one school problem. If it was handled in any other way, the kindergarten students would have to start school in long pants. Imagine?

Most children want to graduate from short pants into long trousers at the age of eight or nine, but in Palm Springs at 13 or 14 there again comes an awakening.

Then, they say, my brother or friend of my parents dresses more comfortably—so why can't I?

And why can't they? I do and so do you. And if you're a woman, which does not enter into this argument as the girls at the high school solved the shorts problem before, I am sure you will agree as Mrs. Ruth Zanzville said to Mr. Unedited Bill Rashall that "I'd rather see Bermuda shorts than those low-hanging, drooping off levis."

And I personally think that if Bermuda shorts would be promoted as wear among all male students, it would be an improvement.

In fact, before this topic is definitely decided by the board of education, I would like to hear from interested parents. And I promise to appear before the board of education with the results, withholding names of course, if enough parents are interested.

I tried to be slightly humorous in yesterday's column, hope I succeeded. Today's is different.

Bill, as I said yesterday, covers the human side of the news. To me, there is nothing more human than the youngsters who are growing up to replace us.

And misdirected discipline will not direct them in the right direction.

EARL WILSON:

The Hip-Walker

NEW YORK — "Have you ever tried any of this hip-walking that ballet dancers do?" I inquired the beautiful Miss Jeanne Crain, who was sitting on the floor of her hotel suite showing me the exercises that give her such a thin waist.

"What's a hip-walk?" I asked. I was sitting on the floor too, the better to observe her, my dear.

And so Miss Crain began "wiggling" across the floor on her . . . well, let's say on her hips. First the right hip, then the left hip. She was walking on her derriere, if you must know.

"That's very good for thinning," Miss Crain said. "Try it."

I TRIED IT — and frankly, I'm still sore on my . . . all right . . . my hips. Imagine my walking around on your . . . well your hips. But if it's going to make me beautiful I'll try it some more.

"But that's not the principal exercise," added Miss Crain, whose measurements are 35-22½-35, which gives her waist line about two and one-half inches thinner than the average beautiful gal would have.

"Here it is—try this one," she invited.

Lying flat on her back on the floor, she lifted her legs as high as she could, lowered them to about an inch from the floor where she held them for a moment, then lifted them again, and repeated this performance 10 times.

"That's all you need to do," she said. "Ten times in the morning, ten times at night, and your rib cage will be like steel."

"That's all?" I said in surprise.

"Don't say 'That's all' till you try it," she recommended.

She was right, for I could only get through five maneuvers the first time. I seemed unable to get my legs up very far — somehow my stomach kept getting in the way—and then when I lowered them, I couldn't seem to get them back up again.

"You see, it's hard at first," Miss Crain, the mother of four, which makes it all the more remarkable, said.

"BUT SOON it becomes a part of your daily routine. Any so-called beauty secret is no good if it takes a half hour because, let's face it, you're only going to do it for a week."

"But this takes only a few seconds and any woman can do it . . . after all, we all have the same equipment."

Miss Crain added that it's also such a wonderful investment because when you get your waist down, then you can wear any dress in the stores, at such bargains too.

"You can be well dressed for the tiniest amount of money because it's the expensive clothes that disguise figure defects. So maybe you take 5 or 6 minutes a day . . . and see what you've got."

"Can you eat anything you want to then?" I asked her.

"I weighed 112 in high school and I weigh 112 to 114 now," she answered. "When I get up to 115 pounds, I start watching it."

I FEAR THERE is one slightly important fact here that Miss Crain didn't mention. She started the exercise when she was 15 and has been at it all these years since.

"And don't lie on a bed and do the exercise. That takes away the good of it. If men," she added, "had to wear form-fitting things like women do, they'd all be humiliated, and they'd exercise."

Personally, I have my doubts about the benefits of the thing for men, because although I did the exercising, it made me so hungry, I gained two pounds.

De la Torre will begin his recital with three selections by Gaspar Sanz, followed by J. S. Bach's Sarabande and Bourree (from Sonata No. 2 for violin alone), and two compositions by Fernando Sor, Variations on a theme by Mozart and Sonata, Opus 15, No. 2.

After the intermission, the artist will be heard in a group of Three Catalonian Melodies by Miguel Llobet and two compositions by Manuel de Falla, Romance del Pescador, and Cancion del Fuego Fatuo from "El Amor Brujo." The program will be concluded with three Mexican songs by Manuel M. Ponce, Chorus No. 1 by Heitor Villa-Lobos, and Tremolo Study by Francisco Tarrega.

Born in Havana, Rey de la Torre was a pianist at five, at ten an accomplished guitarist. At fourteen he was sent to Spain for study with the famous teacher of guitar virtuosos, Maestro Miguel Llobet, and to continue his general academic studies in that country.

Since his debut in Barcelona at the age of sixteen, de la Torre has toured Spain, Latin-America, and this country where he first appeared in 1941. He now resides in New York between tours, and in addition to numerous radio and television appearances, is known here and abroad for his record albums of standard and contemporary music for guitar.

Direction Books Give Inside Tips

The buyer who takes the time to learn what his new appliance is expected to do and how to operate it efficiently is protecting his investment. Reading the direction book will help the owner of a new appliance to get more for his money in terms of long time serviceability.

The most self-sufficient appliance deserves the few minutes it takes to read directions. Refrigerators, for example, require little maintenance. People who fail to read the directions, however, do not fully understand what their new refrigerator is supposed to do or is capable of doing. They panic at minor departures from normal operation. Often they could clear up such problems with the push of a button or the flick of a switch. The directions tell.

Some appliances require more active supervision. They have been made as simple as possible—and will become more simple as technical advances permit.

Women Have Key Part in Paying for Home, in Addition To Populating, Selecting it, Theresa Press Reports

One out of three of today's modern matrons not only plays a key part in populating and selecting her home, but in paying for it as well. And in all three capacities, she is one of the potent forces in improving the standard of the American home.

This point was advanced today by Theresa Press, president of the Palm Springs Board of Realtors, on the basis of current national figures highlighting the importance of the working wife in the nation's expanding economy and real estate industry.

"The working wife has had a part in boosting the average family income 30 per cent from $4,000 in 1946 to $5,200 in 1955," Mrs. Press said. "This is one of the most striking developments in the American economy since World War II, and promises to be even more important in the future."

MRS. PRESS CITED U.S. Census Bureau figures showing that almost one of every three married women had a job outside her home last year. She said that the percentage of wives gainfully employed was 29.5 per cent—the result of a steady increase since 1947 when it was 21.5 per cent. At the peak of wartime employment in 1944 it was 25.6 per cent, which was considered phenomenal.

Paralleling this increase in the number of working wives has been a striking growth in the rate of home ownership which may not be unrelated, Mrs. Press observed. In 1956, 60 per cent of the American families owned their own homes, a substantial increase over the 55 per cent of 1950.

Another clue to the relationship between increases in home ownership and the contribution of the working wife toward that end is found in the assertion of the Federal Housing Administration that a "large percentage" of its home mortgage loan insurance has been extended in view of the adequacy of family income—to which the wives contribute to sustain mortgage payments, and the Federal housing agency is currently studying the matter with the possibility that it may attach even greater significance to wives' incomes.

BUSINESS ANALYSTS, Mrs. Press said, have observed that there are two main effects of the income of working wives on the American market, including that for homes. The first of these is a stabilizing force—the family of a working wife is obviously less likely to be deprived of all its income should the family head become unemployed.

Preview of the expected economic outlook for the Southern California construction industry during the next 10 years is a major program feature of the Building Contractors Association of California's 33rd anniversary Congress Nov. 6-9 at the Hotel del Coronado, Coronado.

The builders will hear a panel of experts from the graduate School of Business Administration at the University of California at Los Angeles discuss the current factors now affecting the industry and those that will affect its future. Ernani Bernardi, BCA president, said that this Thursday afternoon session should be one of the highlights of the Congress.

The four day annual event includes a full schedule of association business, panel discussions and talks on matters of importance to the industry and social events. Bernardi said the BCA will determine its goals and plans for 1957 during the Congress to guide the officers during the coming year in their work for the nation's oldest and largest regional association of contractors.

Prof. James Gillies, assistant dean of the School of Business Administration, will be the moderator for the discussion on economics.

employed. This means that the family is in a better position to maintain essential credit payments, such as those on mortgages, thus protecting their equity.

The second is a key contribution to what has been called "the drastic upward revision in living standards of the past few years" based on a 50 per cent increase since 1947 in the number of families with $4,000 to $7,500 cash income.

The Palm Springs Realtors' executive then quoted Dean Arthur R. Upgren of Dartmouth College as estimating that in less than 10 years—given a continuation of an expanding economy and the participation of married women in it as wage earners at the current rate—the average family will have an annual income of $6,760.

According to the Dean Upgren's estimates," Mrs. Press said, "This will bring one million families a year across the $5,000 income level. This is most meaningful in terms of the drive of American families—already noted in surveys made by our National Association of Real Estate Boards—for better housing."

In support of this contention, the real estate board president noted that economists generally look on the $4,000-$5,000 income band as the dividing line between essential and optional family spending. Below this level, a family spends most of its money for the bare necessities of life. Once subsistence needs are met with income to spare, spending stress falls on satisfying tastes and gratifying preferences.

IN CREDITING working wives with this greater ability of the average family to better its residence, Mrs. Press pointed out also that as homemakers and mothers they are also interested in obtaining adequate family housing accommodations.

"For years Realtors have noted that the wife plays a major part in selecting the house," she added, "although we used to say that the husband passes on her choice from the standpoint of family finances. Now it appears that working wives, because of their key contribution to family finances, may have a large voice in the spending of joint funds."

"Perhaps it's true that it's becoming more of a woman's world—if so, there are some redeeming features from a male viewpoint."

Building Outlook To Be Discussed At Annual Meet

Planting Time For Cape Bulbs

The Freesia, Ixia and Sparaxis, known as Cape bulbs, are probably three of the most riotously colored flowers that ever graced a spring garden. As border subjects or in cut bouquets, their blossoms offer solid colors of lavender, mauve, orange or combinations of orange and amber with a brown center, or orange with black and gold markings.

Because this threesome has somewhat tender flowers, they should be planted in early fall to provide a good growth before cold weather sets in, the California Association of Nurserymen recommends. The Freesia should not be planted outdoors in areas of the state where the ground freezes. In such areas, it should be container-grown. Freesias appreciate sun and a light, well-drained soil. Set the bulbs two inches deep with points up and divide when the clumps become crowded. Since they're rather untidy plants, following early spring blooming, plant them where the post-blooming period won't be too noticeable.

Handy and striking is this serving center which combines a sharp design with fullest utility of available space. This housewife will find it a real time saver in preparing meals.

Serving Unit Plays Dual Role In Reducing Kitchen Drudgery

For those millions of housewives who spend at least half of their time in the kitchen, here are a couple of ideas which may make those trying times of preparing meals and cleaning up happy ones indeed.

A serving center, developed by the Douglas Fir Plywood Association, combines a number of features which are sure-fire to make a hit with the family's chief cook and bottle washer.

This plan can be adapted to fit most any space. It can stand by itself or provide an island or peninsula-type counter and serving center. Combined with the second feature, a hanging cabinet, you have a topnotch kitchen-dining room divider.

As for storage, the key feature below the counter is a revolving storage unit which utilizes "dead" space and will give more room in the kitchen.

While this plan was designed for a specific kitchen and a specific space it can be easily reconciled into most situations encountered by the ordinary home-owner. The hanging dish cabinet makes an attractive unit in itself and you literally pluck storage space that did not exist from mid-air when you hang this cabinet. In addition to its handsome, modern appearance and simple construction, sliding doors on both sides make it convenient and accessible from either side of the entire unit.

Part of the serving center can be this handsome hanging dish cabinet which is an ideal place to store the many things needed for a complete meal.

Plans for both the serving center and the hanging dish cabinet may be obtained without cost by writing the Douglas Fir Plywood Association, Tacoma 2, Wash.

County Fair Board to Add New Members, Assume More Duties

Steps were taken recently to establish the Riverside County Fair Board as a larger and more active advisory body to the Riverside County Board of Supervisors.

Meeting at Indio Supervisors George Berkey and Paul Anderson, the four appointed Board members, and Fair Manager Robert Fullen, approved plans for adding several new appointees and expanding certain duties.

Under proposals suggested by the group the Fair Board would have a broader base of responsibility with a larger body, could elect a chairman, and take a more active role in studying administrative, space, and insurance problems.

AT PRESENT, the four appointed members serve with the five supervisors in handling arrangements for the annual County Fair and National Date Festival at the Indio fairgrounds.

In announcing the recommendations that will go to the supervisors soon, Fullen pointed out that with continuous expansion the Indio event has become a major enterprise with growing complexities.

DHS Rental Directory Ready For Distribution

The 1956-57 edition of the Desert Hot Springs Rental Directory, published by the Rental Owners' Association, made its appearance—some 26,000 copies strong—this week.

For weeks past, requests for copies of the directory have been reaching the Chamber of Commerce office from automobile clubs—including the Chicago Motor Club—travel agencies and similar organizations, according to Rex Ross, chairman of the committee which had charge of the directory's publication.

"We don't need to look for outlets for the directory," Ross said.

LAST WINTER, requests from individuals for copies of the directory reached the chamber office at the rate of 1 to 20 a day, according to Ross.

Ross emphasized that "the primary purpose of the directory is to bring people to Desert Hot Springs, especially from the northern and eastern states."

Last year, Ross said, "we had a few complaints" from motel owners that they couldn't pin down any instance of the directory's having brought them a rental.

"AS A MOTEL owner myself," Ross asserted, "I don't feel that way. 'If the directory brings people to DHS—and we know it does—if they spend money here, maybe buy property here, the community is going to benefit, and inevitably my business is going to be benefited too.'"

Junior High Body Being Organized

Junior High Young People's Fellowship is being organized at St. Paul's in the Desert Episcopal Church, with the first meeting set for 7:30 p.m., Saturday, under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Samson.

All students in junior high school of that age are invited.

A Halloween party will be held the following Saturday, Oct. 27, at 7:30 p.m., with Mrs. Ed Canby and Mrs. Roy Colegate as sponsors.

Subsequently, meetings will be held every two weeks, with two adults as sponsors each time.

SALT LAKE CITY — Police confiscated a city street sweeper's slingshot after passers-by reported his taking pot shots at pigeons. Caught in the act of drawing a bead, he shrugged and explained, "I was tired of cleaning up after those birds."

Cabot Yerxa's Old Indian Pueblo Opens At Desert Hot Springs

Cabot's Old Indian Pueblo, Desert Hot Springs leading tourist attraction, is now open for the season.

Daily hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and thousands of tourists and visitors are expected to visit this famous desert land mark. One hundred thousand people have visited the Pueblo to date and about 10,000 have taken a tour of the building with Cabot Yerxa, desert pioneer and builder of the unique structure, narrating them through the building, art gallery and museum.

Pictures and stories about the Pueblo have appeared over national hook-ups in television and radio and metropolitan newspapers have carried more picture and feature space on the Pueblo and Yerxa than any other Desert Hot Springs attraction.

Instead of vacationing through the summer Yerxa has moved one 10 x 12 foot iron cabin to the extreme north line of the site, close to the new hot water well, temperature 152 degrees. Eight very realistic life size paintings of Kachina Dolls, all in bright colors, have been fastened to the walls of the Pueblo.

PRESENTATION OF A KILM to the art classes at the Nellie N. Coffman Junior High School was officially done by Mrs. Max Grone and Mrs. Saul Ruskin of the Palm Springs Jewish Women's Club, right, to Thomas Hamilton and Myrna Wolf, school art teachers, through a dedication plaque. The Kiln was turned over to the school by the Jewish Women in simple ceremonies at the Junior High School cafeteria. (Desert Sun Photo)

Dinner Honors Nelson Dilworth, Lee Backstrand

Nearly 350 citizens gathered to pay tribute to State Senator Nelson S. Dilworth of Hemet and Assemblyman L. M. "Lee" Backstrand of Riverside for their contributions to better government at an appreciation and testimonial dinner staged at the Hemet Elks Club by the Citizens for Good Government of the Hemet-San Jacinto Valley.

Bronze plaques were presented to Dilworth and Backstrand by LeRoy Leatart, past president of the California Optometric Association on behalf of the Orange Belt Optometric Association.

A second presentation of plaques was made to the two legislators by Mayor James Simpson of Hemet on behalf of the organization sponsoring the dinner.

A. Ronald Button, of Rancho Mirage, newly appointed State treasurer, presented the feature speech of the evening in which he gave praise to both Dilworth and Backstrand for integrity, ability and efforts and accomplishments during their careers in the State Legislature.

Other testimonial speakers were Wade Sherrard, executive secretary of the California Truck Owners' Association; Bruce Miller, Riverside Superintendent of Schools; and LeRoy Lyon, former Assemblyman from Orange County.

Riverside County Ranks 13 in List Of State Roadside Rest Priorities

Riverside County, along with San Bernardino County, is thirteenth on a list of 20 roadside rest projects covering approximately 70 percent of the counties of the state, the board of supervisors was informed this week by the Division of Beaches and Parks.

The Riverside-San Bernardino counties project is along Highway 60-70-99, routes 26 and 64, between Redlands and Blythe.

The total program proposed is a five-year master plan anticipating an expenditure of $2,500,000 for establishment and operation of a complete roadside rest system. An amount of $450,000 has been appropriated by the 1956 Legislature to get the program under way. The first 20 projects named anticipates in the first three years the construction of approximately 200 rest stations along major highways.

The order of priority was based on the amount of traffic, lack of available picnic facilities in national, state or local parks and in national forests, hazards of fatigue on types of roads involved, and the problem of maintenance once established.

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

NEW YORK (U.P.) — The football season so far has been just about as formful as the cuties in a Broadway chorus line.

And like the girlie dancers it is rare when any of the teams get out of step.

There hasn't been an old-fashioned shocker of an upset so far. Here and there underdogs win, to be sure, but the bookies are claiming that most of their upsets are just in the point spreads—a team will come close to beating a team that was rated a big margin occasionally and that's about the size of it.

WHAT'S THE CAUSE for this close adherence to form? Well, one odds-maker who does a big volume of football business insists that it is because teams are being scouted more closely than ever before.

The hound dogs who are keeping a close watch are the representatives of the men who make the football odds and who conduct a multi-million dollar business each season in the football parlay cards distributed practically everywhere. They have followers keeping tab on the every team, watching for injuries, for slowness after a big game, for a club that is getting "up" for a special opponent.

AND WHEN THE parlay cards and the point spreads are posted each week, that represents an accurate line on the entire operation, perhaps more accurate than ever before obtainable. In the past many upsets simply were due to wrong information, or perhaps no information at all.

But there are other reasons, too. One of the big ones is the new "high fashion" of ball-control in the college ranks. There is a strong trend toward possession and a theory that the other team can't score as long as you have the ball.

IT MAKES FOR long series of "punch-punch-punch" plays with occasionally a breakthrough runner getting through for a long gain or a touchdown. When a favored team gets the ball and hangs on to it, the chances for the other team scoring an upset are minimized.

And, of course, this also could be the week when form is smashed to pieces on the college gridirons, too. Because the upsets certainly are behind schedule.

Brundage Wants Something Done About Standards

NEW YORK (U.P.) — Avery Brundage, the controversial International Olympic president, today criticized the "lowering of moral athletic standards" in this country and urged "something be done about it immediately."

Just back from Switzerland, the 60-year-old Brundage told a group at the Overseas Press Club that other nations question the amateur status of U. S. athletes as much as they do Russia's "and perhaps even more so."

"It's a sad state," he said, "when a boy believes he has to be paid for playing a game. I believe crooked boxing matches, basketball scandals and surreptitious payments to athletes under the table is an indication of a lowering of moral athletic standards. In this country and something should be done about it immediately."

Fumbles and Penalties Aid Arab Victory

Palm Springs Lads Outclassed After Bad Break at Start

Coachella High Schools B team, rated underdogs against the Palm Springs High School Junior varsity, scored a thumping upset when they downed the local Papoose outfit at Coachella Thursday night, 19 to 0.

A large crowd of rooters saw the local Jayvees blow the game. Excessive penalties against, and costly fumbles by Coach Alfred Kazmire's boys played a major role in the upset.

COACHELLA GOT TO work quickly, hitting pay dirt in the first quarter when they blocked a Jayvee punt and recovered the bouncing ball. They went 86 yards to the TD in a hurry. The conversion was good and CV was in front 7 to 0. The score remained that way until the final period.

The third quarter was a see-saw affair with neither team making an impression.

IN THE FINAL PERIOD, the Arab Bs scored twice. Neither try was good and the game ended on a sad note for the hopeful Palm Springs Bs, 19 to 0.

Next Thursday night the Jayvees meet Banning Bs here in the third Riverside County League game.

Coach Kazmire will concentrate on ball handling and impress his lads not to be over-eager and draw costly penalties.

The Papoose squad is still a strong contender for the RCL Junior Varsity title.

Speed Marks At Salton Sea Face Threat

Salton Sea will resound tomorrow and Sunday as some of the nation's speediest hydroplanes and runabouts seek to crack existing speed marks in the fall regatta of the Southern California Speedboat Club.

Top drivers will pilot their craft in the various classes in the Mile Time trials.

The event will be held off the Desert Shore Resort, just off Highway 99 and about 50 miles from Palm Springs.

Kent Hitchcock is chairman of the event. Jack Smith, referee; J. O. Crocker, timer; James Carter, starter.

The public is invited to the thrilling trials and no admission is charged.

Stars Purchase Pair Of Columbus Pitchers

HOLLYWOOD, (U.P.) — The Hollywood Stars have purchased twin right-handers Donald and Deward Williams from Columbus of the International League, the Pacific Coast League club announced today.

The 23-year-old identical twins played with Lincoln of the Western League last season. Donald had an 11-8 record with the Lincoln club, while his brother won 10 games and lost six.

Hagge, Berg Favored In Oklahoma Event

LAWTON, Okla., (U.P.) — Thirty-six women, including 23 of the nation's top women professional golfers, were to tee off today in the $5,000 Lawton Ladies PGA Tournament, provided the rains stopped.

Tournament officials said the meet might have to be postponed if rains continued to fall. Marlene Bauer Hagge and Patty Berg are among the favorites in the 54-hole event, the last on the regular circuit this season.

Dinner for Basilio

NEW YORK, (U.P.) — Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio will be given a testimonial dinner-dance at a New York hotel, Jan. 26, by the New York Boxing Managers' Association. Former welterweight and lightweight champion Barney Ross will make the association's award to Basilio.

Plan Testimonial

Slaughter had a second reason to be happy. His wife, Helen, Thursday gave birth to a seven-pound, 14-ounce girl.

THRILLS AND SPILLS are in store for local Sports Car fans at Palm Springs Airport November 3 and 4 when the National Championship Road Races are held there. Above is a shot of one of the racers straddling a bale of hay in races here last spring. The hay is placed along the course to safeguard racers and spectators.

Future of Swaps Still Uncertain Is Belief of Vets

CAMDEN, N. J., (U.P.) — Swaps battled against the odds today while specialists kept a close watch to determine if the record-breaking race horse will recover from his broken left hind leg.

A staff of veterinarians said it would take a "few days" to decide whether the four-year-old chestnut will ever be able to compete on the turf again, although co-owner John W. Galbreath said he was "going ahead" with racing plans for the million-dollar colt.

Swaps, his broken leg encased in a specially-designed cast, rested in a sling at his stall at Garden State Park. The sling keeps his hoof about two inches from the floor and the cast permits the bone to mend and minimizes possible recurrence of the bad bump which aggravated the injury last Sunday and put him in jeopardy.

Rodriguez Stops Hawkins in Sixth

LOS ANGELES, (U.P.) — Fergie Rodriguez, 127½, Whittier, outclassed 18-year-old Dwight Hawkins, 124½, Los Angeles, and gained a sixth-round technical knockout in Thursday night's scheduled 10-round main event at Olympic Auditorium.

Rodriguez, a 2-1 favorite, floored Hawkins in the sixth round with a series of head blows. The youth slowly got to his feet. He appeared unable to continue and the referee halted the bout.

Bataan Is Winner

FRESNO, (U.P.) — Larry Bataan, Manila, scored a technical knockout over Eli Scott, San Francisco, Thursday night in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round bantamweight bout.

Bataan weighed 123, Scott 122.

Agajanian Signs

NEW YORK, (U.P.) — Ben Agajanian, one of the longest field goal kickers in National Football League history, signed with the New York Giants today as "insurance in the kicking department." Agajanian retired after scoring 62 points for the Giants last season.

Sports Car Racing Costly Sports As Interest Mounts

Sports Car racing is an expensive business according to George Cary, Jr., race coordinator for the Palm Springs National Championship Road Races November 3 and 4 at the local airport.

Cary pointed out that the cost of the events has mounted rapidly as they began to take hold of public fancy and that larger crowds also meant larger expense. Last February 15,000 attended the races here and a larger throng is expected during the first November weekend program.

With the growth of the crowds, new problems arose. Places where the races could be held was restricted by law and fees for use of airports and other paved areas suitable for the sport, rose.

Discussing the races here last spring, Cary listed the cost as $2,316.97 for insurance; $1,879.83 for taxes; safeguarding the course, $4,803.92; $2,024.58 for advertising; $500.98 for posters and banners; other expenses including press entertainment, telephone, mailing and salaries was $3,384.30.

Trophies and awards cost $831.95. "Add to this," said Cary, "the cost of the driver who enters his car for the glory of it all and the hope of winning a silver trophy, and it mounts up."

"It costs each driver up to $300 to enter his car, including entry fees, new tires, repairs and their own accommodations. "Yes, Sports Car racing is now a major sport."

Bums Still Bums—Blow First Game In Japan to Tokyo Yomiuris, 5 to 4

TOKYO, (U.P.) — The Yomiuri Giants made bums of the Brooklyn Dodgers in their Japan debut today.

Sixteen Dodgers struck out, three straight in the ninth inning, as they lost 5-4 in the opening of a 20-game exhibition tour to the amazement of 20,000 fans at Tokyo's Korakuen Stadium.

It was a battle of second bests—Japan's losing team in the just completed Japan series and the National League champions.

Slaughter Happy—Big Check and Girl

KANSAS CITY, (U.P.) — Enos Slaughter sent a two-word message today to his New York Yankee teammates: "Thank you."

The 40-year-old outfielder said he wanted to acknowledge publicly the generosity of the players who voted him a three-quarter World Series share even though he did not join the Yankees until Aug. 25.

The Japanese outthit the powerful Dodgers even in home runs, 4-2.

Duke Snider struck out three times to pace the Dodgers' fanfare. He duplicated the three consecutive strikeouts by Mickey Mantle in the second game of the New York Yankees' series here last year.

It was a bid day for Snider. When he did get on base with a walk, first up in the eighth, he was trapped off the bag. He really was safe at second on the rundown when the Giants second baseman dropped the peg from first. But Snider thought he was out, kept running and was tagged at third.

The Brooks were sparking in the infield with three snappy double plays by Jackie Robinson. Pee Wee Reese, Jim Gilliam and Gil Hodges. But they came to life at bat only in the fourth inning when homers by Robinson and Hodges in succession cleared the leftfield wall.

Keglers in Garden

NEW YORK, (U.P.) — U. S. match game champion Bill Lillard of Chicago and masters' champion Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio, head an all-Mar list of keggers who will compete in the first annual Madison Square Garden Invitation Bowling Tournament on Nov. 13.

Indians Host Arabs Tonight In Big Game on Local Grid

By LINSAY NIELSON

Traditional rivals clash on the local gridiron tonight when the Arabs of Coachella trek to the high school field. The Arabs will go onto the field as slight favorites with the Indians yet to claim a victory.

Each time these two rivals meet the fans are assured of an exciting game. The three previous meetings of these two teams have ended in scores of 7-6, Palm Springs over the Arabs, 20-19, in this game the Arabs beat the local lads out of the 1954 RCL championship. Last year several blocked punts resulted in 25-0 shutout for Coachella.

Tonight the Indians are going to be playing "heads-up" ball all the way. Coachella will have to really play, for the Indians want a victory at all cost and tonight is as good a time as any they say.

Coach Ballagh announced the starting line-up in which he is using new strategy as ends, Beck and Prieto; tackles, Louis and Cunningham; guards, Hecht and Dunham, and at center there will be Dawson Hayward. In the backfield Chaisson, Johnson, Lance and Segundo will start.

The turnout is expected to be large. Game time is 8 p.m.

Quiz Program Proposed for Common People; Named Ignorance is Bliss

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Some of us viewers are getting downright tired of seeing so many smart people parading around on TV winning so much money answering so many questions on abstruse things.

It's time somebody told the TV people they're going overboard. They're hipped on the subject of knowledge. They're putting a premium on crammed heads. Thousands of dollars for overstuffed brains.

Erudition is oozing out of the studios and dripping all over the sidewalks. It's getting so that if you don't know who told Zachary Taylor's upstairs maid's pooch's uncle that he wasn't nothing but a hound dog, you can't even get into the audience of a quiz show.

WHY DON'T THEY give us dump people a chance sometimes? I mean us folks with clean, uncramped, unfettered brains — unburdened by the dull weight of billions of facts. Some of us have been working hard at keeping our brains uncluttered for years.

There are some brains around that have whole sections which have been exposed to anything. Should such purity go unsung, unrecognized, unrewarded? Obviously the answer is no.

What we need is a television program that pays off on ignorance. The format should not be hard to contrive. If you don't know a thing, you don't know it. How much you don't know can be demonstrated by starting with a yard question and gradually working up to missing the easiest possible kind of question. It takes a lot of practice to don't-know something of the simple, ordinary things; the contestant could be interviewed on how he achieved his ignorance.

For instance, I have no idea what nine times 12 is. My success in this may be traced to a strict personal code of window-staring while we were being taught the multiplication tables in school. During the entire arithmetic class I would stare through a window at an alley.

It was a dirt alley, with weeds between the vehicle tracks. There was almost never any traffic along it, a fact which helped keep the mind at peace, restful and unused.

NOW, YOU'RE PROBABLY saying, what would prevent a person on "Ignorance Is Bliss," or whatever they called the program, from pretending not to know the answer when he actually knew it? This is simple. Science would fix it.

Each contestant would be shot with truth serum and then go on the program wearing a lie detector. That way, you'd be sure he was trying his best when giving the wrong answer and telling the truth when he said he didn't know.

Just so there would be some easy winnings in the first round, the program would start off with some question like: "Who was George Washington's most frequent caddy during his first term as President?" Then you could work into such contestant-eliminators as: "What was the name of Adam's first wife?"

There is a crying need for such a program for those of us who have, as Lord Byron said, "Just enough of knowledge to misquote." Well . . . that is . . . I think that's what he said.

Women May Decide Outcome Of Nov. 6 Election

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — The head of the American Heritage Foundation believes that this year for the first time the women may decide the outcome of the presidential election.

"That's my own opinion," said John C. Cornelius, president of the non-partisan organization. "I'm not speaking for the foundation." Cornelius, an affable man who used to be an advertising agency executive, said a look at the figures (voters) backed up his prediction.

This year, he said, the foundation estimates there are 104,866,000 eligible voters—53,700,000 of them women. Women outnumber the men by 2,500,000.

IN 1932, HE SAID, an estimated 31,100,000 men voted, compared with 30,500,000 women. The totals represented 65 per cent of the men eligible to vote; 59 per cent of the women.

"But," he added, "the percentage of women voting has been climbing since suffrage."

"This year, we expect more women to vote than ever before. And, we expect them to outnumber the men both in numbers and percentage of eligibles."

"That is," Cornelius added, "if they go to the polls with the same zeal with which they've been working so far."

CORNELIUS SAID, he never had seen women more active in politics than this year—either working for the election of one specific candidate, for a whole party slate, or on a non-partisan level, to increase voter interest.

Why all this feminine enthusiasm? "I think women just naturally have more sense about these things . . . they're realists," he said. "They seem more conscientious than men about their duties as citizens."

Cornelius said that in 1952, some 53 national organizations worked with the foundation to get out the vote.

THIS YEAR, 144 organizations, a big chunk of them women's groups are participating in what he called "the campaign against the third party—the party of indifference."

Well, with the feminine vote increasingly powerful, what are a woman's chances of one day being President?

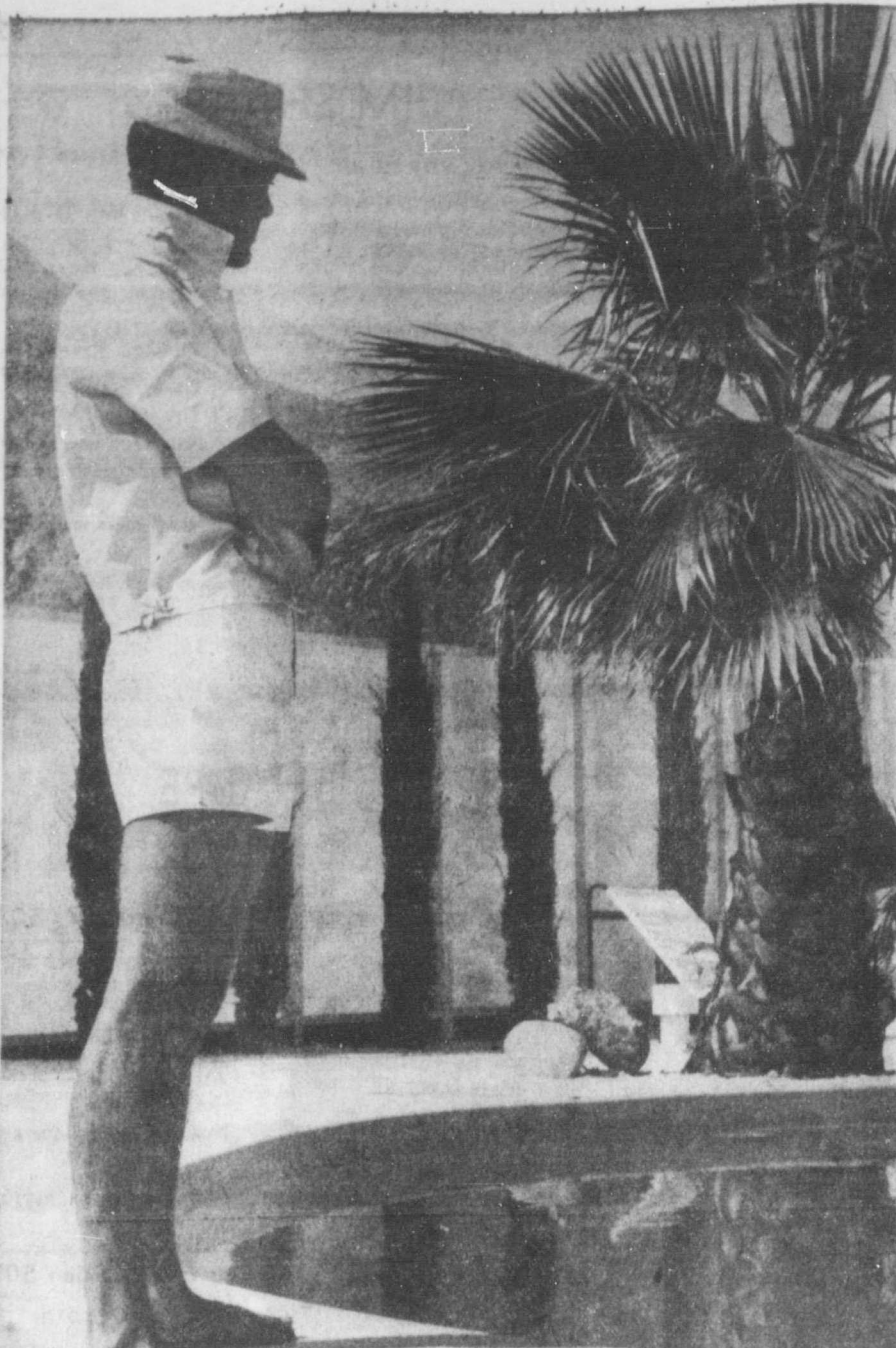

"Not very good," said Cornelius.

DeLong's First Child Born Oct. 17

Richard and Edwina DeLong, 1135 San Jacinto Way, are the parents of a baby girl, their first child, born at Desert Hospital.

The girl, weighing seven pounds, seven ounces, will be known as Linda Lea, and was born at 6:36 p.m., Wednesday.

Richard DeLong is administrative assistant to City Manager R. W. Peterson. He said that his daughter missed being born on his birthday, which he celebrated yesterday, by five hours.

DON'T GO NEAR THE WATER seems to be the appropriate advice for MGM director Chuck Walters as he stands on the edge of the pool at his Palm Springs home and meditates on his newest directional assignment. You guessed it, he will direct the best seller, "Don't Go Near the Water," when it is brought to the screen. Walters, who directed "High Society" with Kelly-Crosby-Sinatra, and "Tender Trap" with Sinatra, is one of Hollywood's topflight directors. In Palm Springs he is a businessman and home owner.

Seaton Foresees $94 Billion Need For More Power

CHICAGO — Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton said today it will take "every power dollar available" from public and private sources to "finance and build" the power plants needed for the nation's expanding economy.

Speaking before a meeting of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, Seaton said it would cost some $40-billion in the next decade to construct facilities "to keep up with the demand" for electrical power.

The secretary also revealed that the Federal Power Commission estimated at least $94 billion would be necessary during the next 20 years for investment in new power plants and transmission lines.

He predicted water pipelines eventually will crisscross the nation as petroleum lines do now, transferring water to the thirsty areas of the country.

Water tables have sunk 25 to 50 feet in many sections of the country during the last 10 years, he said, "and if we are not careful . . . we will one day find that we have mined out the water from under substantial areas of our land."

Mrs. Mary Johnson is visiting in Pasadena for ten days with friends and relatives.

State Allots Record Funds For Highways

SACRAMENTO — California will spend a record-breaking $421 million in the next fiscal year on state highways.

That was made known today with the release by the Highway Commission of its construction budget for the 1957-58 fiscal year which starts July 1. The new budget is up more than $100 million over the budget for the current year and contains one or more construction projects for every one of the 58 counties in the state.

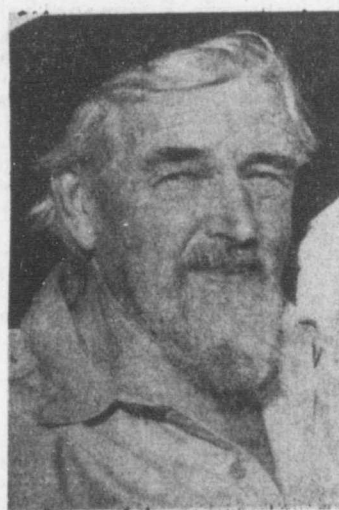

THE OVERALL BUDGET adopted by the commission totals $464,247,000 and includes $25 million for maintenance; $25.5 million for preliminary engineering; $2 million for a statewide planning survey; $7.5 million for administration; $4.5 million for buildings and plants and $1.7 million for honor camp projects.

It also includes $30,187,000 for major city streets, $7,920,000 in federal aid secondary funds for county roads, $4,087,854 in matching funds to assist counties to match federal funds on gas projects and $804,000 to cities for engineering work.

The Makings Of Greatness

HARRY OLIVER

The commander and lamplighter of Fort Oliver is as much a part of the desert as wind, sand and stars. He is as much a legend across the nation as J. Frank Dobie, Apache gold, Yaqui silver, or his own public relations client, Pegleg Smith.

Harry Oliver's success story is an unassisted triple play. He first rose from printer's devil to win an Academy Award as a Hollywood art director. Then he discovered the desert and a new art—that of living each day. Thirdly, he has become the entire staff of the Desert Rat Scrapbook, the only five-page paper in the world that can be opened in a high wind.

Fiercely loyal followers of Harry Oliver are everywhere and each has a feeling of personal discovery and gain. Now he will be heard regularly on KDES—with all of the humor, flair and taste that have made him the modern Mark Twain of the desert.

To make a station great, the staff must have the stuff of greatness.
Here are two more KDES staff members who have long since proved that they qualify.

The music director of KDES is a man with a world-wide reputation and acquaintanceship in the field. Grouya is a noted song-writer of both popular and serious works. Among his hits have been "Flamingo," "In My Arms," and "I Heard You Cry Last Night." Former head of music for MGM in Europe, his first serious symphonic work was performed by the Paris Symphony.

Grouya came to Palm Springs in 1939 for the first time and has since chosen it as his permanent home. His love for the village is expressed in his own composition, "The Palm Springs Polka."

Using his wide knowledge of music and a soaring imagination, Grouya has developed new station break and commercial techniques for KDES which have already been called some of the finest ever done by experts in the field.

His talents and warm personality will also be used on the air in programming completely original and unique in the desert area.
